

Action-Guiding Motives of the AGJF Saxony

Our actions are guided by the following motives:

1. The AGJF is a specialist and service organization for youth work and youth welfare in Saxony.
2. We are convinced that professional social work must meet high professional standards.
3. Our aim is to ensure quality in youth welfare, in particular to increase the professional and personal skills of employees in this area.
4. We consider the skills, experiences and needs of our partners as an important part of the work, learning and cooperation process.
5. We are committed to a democratic and open society. Our work is based on participation-oriented and base-related services to strengthen the rights of all children and young people.
6. We take up innovative ideas, theories, educational and action approaches and make them accessible to youth work and youth welfare.
7. We work on a process-, action- and self-experience-oriented basis.
8. Our actions are based on a humanistic view of mankind, a high level of professional competence and the respectful, trusting cooperation of all employees of AGJF Saxony.
9. We appreciate the diversity of people in our work. That is why we stand up for diversity in education and youth work, develop it further and expressed it in professional actions, language and writing.
